Senator Gallinger Starts
Argument by Favoring
Jones' Amendment

VARDAMAN DISCOURSES

Senator from Mississippi Asserts
It Would Be God-Send If Negro
Did Not Have Right to Vote

TELLS OF THE CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—After another day's debate on the race question the senate agreed to vote tomorrow on the final passage of the Lever agricultural extension bill. Senator Gallinger started today's argument with a statement in favor of the Jones amendment to provide that negro agricultural colleges in the south shall share in the administration of the proposed fund for farm demonstration this brought forth extended remarks upon the negro by Senator Vardaman who declared it would be a Godsend if the negro was not permitted to vote in any state. He added that the Republican party was getting tired of the black in politics and was considering a way to get him out of the national conventions.

Senator Clapp protested that what Senator Vardaman was saying about the inability of the negro to advance alone was not applicable to the mixed bloods of Minnesota.

Describing present conditions in the "black belt" the Mississippi senator said the women of the southern states were living today in a state of siege with more dread than in the days when the wild man and the beast roamed the frontier.

Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan expressed the opinion that possession in the south of $500,000,000 worth of property by the negroes was a tribute to the latent ability of the race.

Will Bring Spirited Debate.

Washington, Feb. 6.—President Wilson's expressed desire for repeal of the provision of the Panama canal act which exempts coastwise ships from tolls it was apparent tonight, will precipitate spirited debate in both houses of congress when the bill to carry out the suggestion is submitted.

Sensors and representatives discussed the situation informally today but no move was made in the matter.

That opposition to the repeal will develop in the house interstate commerce committee was indicated today by Representative Knowland of California, a member of the committee who declared:

"We are paying a dear price for the friendship of Great Britain even though it may help us out in Mexico. The proposed bill I predict will precipitate one of the most spirited debates which has been heard in congress for years and will provoke a free and full discussion of our present foreign policy."

RIOTING AND PILLAGING BREAK OUT ANEW IN CAPE HAITIEN

Gunboat Nashville Lands 80 Marines to Protect Lives and Property.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Rioting and pillaging broke out in Cape Haitien yesterday to such an extent that Commander Bostwick of the gunboat Nashville landed 80 men to protect lives and property of foreign residents. A British naval officer is now in command of the international naval force at Port au Prince, Haiti, the commander of the British Cruiser Lancaster, which arrived yesterday being senior to Captain Russell of the American Battleship South Carolina.

Today's despatches said a meeting was held yesterday and plan adopted for protecting the lives and property of foreigners without interfering with the internal policies of Haiti.

The state department received advice late tonight that the entraining of troops at Saint Marc, Haiti, under the Zamor Brothers is reported to have begun, the intention being to advance on Port au Prince.

CLAIM OF TERMINAL RAILROAD MISLEADING

ST. LOUIS BUSINESS LEAGUE MAKES ASSERTION IN BRIEF FILED

According to Brief Filed With Interstate Commerce Commission the Roads Claim That It Pays no Dividends on its Stock is Misleading—Dividends Are Paid Out of Earnings.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—The claim of the Terminal Railroad association of St. Louis that it pays no dividends on its stock is misleading according to the brief filed with the Interstate commerce commission by the Business League of St. Louis, which is seeking the collection of the toll of 20 cents a ton on coal hauled across the Mississippi river from Southern Illinois.

The brief made public here today says:

"The terminal association has claimed that it does not expect to pay any dividends on its stock but merely seeks to make the charge for the service sufficient to cover its operating expenses."

This statement is misleading. In the first place no money was contributed towards the payment of stock in the terminal association and of course the holders of the stock—the proprietors (railroad) companies—are not entitled to any return on it. It cost them nothing. But it is well to call attention to the fact that dividends are paid out of earnings of the terminal association. Among the so-called fixed charges is included in an annual dividend of six per cent of $2,490,000 first preferred stock of the St. Louis Bridge company; also a dividend of three per cent upon $3,000,000 of second preferred stock; also a dividend of six per cent upon $1,250,000 capital stock of the St. Louis Tunnel company. The stock of the bridge company on which the dividends are paid is almost twice as much as the assessed value of the bridge company, as shown in the brief of the terminal association.

The brief charges that the extensions of the property of the terminal are not paid for by the proprietors railroads. The effort of the terminal association, continues the brief, "to have all the charges of the association paid by the traffic is simply an effort to produce not only an income but the principal of the investment itself and thereby relieve the carrier companies of the obligation which rests upon themselves to contribute the principal revenue."

$100,000,000 SUIT OF TEXAS VS. M., K. & T. COMPROMISED

Compromise Binds Road to Spend $6,000,000 on Improvements in Long Star State.

Austin, Texas, Feb. 6.—The $100,000,000 suit of the state of Texas against the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway of Texas today was settled by a compromise without a money penalty.

The suit was brought under the state anti-trust laws to prevent the railroad merging several of its Texas branches under one management, a merger which the Texas legislature specifically authorized last spring. In the suit the state's Attorney General B. F. Looney held the legislature's action to be unconstitutional.

Under the compromise filed in court here today the Texas system is to be separated from the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway of Kansas which the suit called the parent corporation.

The compromise binds the railroad to spend $6,000,000 on improvements in Texas. This is an addition to $2,000,000 for the repair of damage done in last December's floods.

The agreement declares its purpose is to place the affairs of the road's Texas Lines beyond the power of control of any railroad corporation chartered under the laws of another state.

A stock transfer to H. E. Hildebrand of San Antonio and then to the Central trust company of New York is the means adopted for separation of the Texas road from control by the Kansas line.

ASSERT REBELS ARE FINANCIALLY ABLE TO BUY WARSHIPS

Carranza Agents Declare
They Have Plenty Money to Buy Munitions of War

MAY PURCHASE VESSELS

Two Great Warships Are to Be Purchased by Rebels for Operation Along Pacific Coast

REBELS GATHER NEAR TAMPICO

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Feb. 6.—Statements emanating from sources friendly to Huerta that the lifting of the embargo would do the constitutional cause no good because the rebels had no money were met today with declarations by Carranza agents that they had not only money enough to buy rifles but the hundred thousand, but that they were financially able to purchase warships of such destructive power to blow the federal navy out of the water.

Two warships of not less than 15,000 tons displacement each are to be purchased at once for operations along the Pacific coast of Mexico, according to a statement by constitutionalist consul Lelivier today.

It was intimated that these vessels were already selected and would be ready immediately after purchase to proceed against the federal gunboats which are reinforcing the Huerta garrisons at Guaymas and Manzanilla. A warship of 15,000 tons displacement would be much larger than the Oregon, the famous American battleship which went around the horn in 1898 to help defeat Cervantes' fleet at Santiago and would be almost equal in size to the big United States Armoured Cruiser Maryland.

Advise Spaniards to Leave.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 6.—Fearful that General Villa would carry out his threat to execute Spaniards should they be captured in the rebel attack on Torreon, agents of Spain today telegraphed to the Spanish minister at Washington recommending that their countrymen be urged to leave Torreon before the battle begins there. The Spanish refugees who were driven out of Chihuahua after much of their property had been confiscated by Villa were anxious that the several hundred Spaniards now in Torreon leave there at once for Monterey or for the United States.

Under an order from Washington releasing munitions of war seized before the lifting of the embargo, rebel leaders asked that 1,000,000 rounds of ammunition and one field gun held in El Paso be turned over to them.

Orders including one for 1,000,000 rounds of seven millimeter ammunition for rifles of standard make, were placed with manufacturers in the United States.

Vera Cruz, Feb. 6.—That the rebels are concentrating in strong force for an immediate attack on Tampico is indicated in a wireless despatch received here today from Clarence A. Miller, United States consul at Tampico.

Consul Miller says the rebels, after they had been repulsed in a small fight near Laguna Portia Feb. 4th, retreated to Los Esteros, with trifling losses. That night several train loads of reinforcements arrived from Victoria and the following day the rebels left Los Esteros and made a rapid advance movement in the direction of Altamira and Tampico driving in the federal advance guard and openly expressing the intention to take Tampico by storm the night of Feb. 5th or 6th.

Apparently, however, the consul's report says, the attack was deferred to await the arrival of the reinforcements from the south. These are expected to arrive the night of Feb. 8th, and force a passage across the Panuco river and assist in the general assault by an attack by the undefended south side of the city.

The rebels yesterday destroyed the water tank service fifteen miles up the river from Tampico, leaving only three days supply of water in the city reservoir. They have planned also to fire the oil tanks of the five foreign oil companies and turn the blazing streams into the river with the purpose of destroying or compelling the immediate retreat down stream of any Mexican gunboats guarding the east and west approaches to the city.

The Vera Cruz is the only gunboat now at Tampico but others are expected. The federal garrison at Tampico has been greatly depleted owing to the despatch of troops to assist in the defense of San Luis Potosi, and the attempt at re-occupying the railroad from San Luis Potosi to Tampico to which much additional damage recently has been done by raiders. Tampico is now entirely cut except through the wireless of the Vera Cruz.

WILL PURIFY WATERS.

GREAT CAMPAIGN WILL BE WAGED THIS SPRING

MORE THAN 200 VOTING UNITS IN IN STATE TO DECIDE SALOON ISSUE

Saloon Will Make It's Last Stand In Seventeen Counties on April 7th—Anti-Saloon Supporters Have Confidence in Women Voters.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—A canvass completed today shows that more than 200 of the 325 voting units in Illinois outside of Cook county will vote on the saloon question April 7th. Reports indicate that the greatest campaign between prohibition and saloon forces will be waged the coming spring.

Confidence in woman voters to cast their ballots against the saloon is responsible for the decision of the anti-saloon supporters to make fights in many townships.

In seventeen counties the saloon will make its last stand on April 7th. These are:

Adams, Boone, DeKalb, Fayette, Franklin, Knox, Jersey, Logan Lee, Marion, Putnam, Schuyler, Stephenson, Warren, Whiteside and Winnebago. Of the thirty one counties which are prohibition in only one, Brown, will an effort be made by the saloon interests to regain lost territory. Today was the last day for filing petitions in these counties.

In five of the thirteen counties which contain 63 per cent of the saloons outside of Cook county, Adams, Kane, Lake, Rock Island and Will, several thousand saloons are in danger of being closed.

"Petition Mill" Uncovered.
Chicago, Feb. 6.—A "petition mill" where wholesale signatures were obtained on any subject on which a referendum was sought was uncovered by the arrest of ninety men charged with illegally signing anti-saloon and subway petitions according to State's Attorney Hoyne who released the men tonight after questioning them.

He is searching for the men who bargained with those arrested for their signatures. Hoyne expressed the belief that J. G. Lawson, in charge of the anti-saloon petition and S. S. Gorham, who had charge of the subway petition, supposed the names attached to the petition were signed in good faith.

POSSIBILITY OF COMPROMISE IS SUGGESTED AT MEETING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A possibility of compromise between the New York stock exchange and the senate banking and currency committee on the terms of a bill to provide federal regulation of stock exchanges was suggested today at a committee hearing.

H. K. Pomeroy a former president of the exchange and now on the board of governors and the listing committee agreed at the request of Senator Pomeroy to submit in writing suggestions as to legislation which he would deem advisable.

Mr. Pomeroy had laid before the committee the listing rules of the New York exchange and promised to furnish the constitution and rules of other exchanges in the United States. He asserted that the New York exchange was the only organization having drastic rules as to listing securities and that stocks listed by it were accepted without question by the London exchange.

SPRINGFIELD FOOT PAD MAKES FREE USE OF PISTOL

New York Salesman Is Held Up and Shot At By Hold-Up Man.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6.—Warned by a man who had just been the victim of a footpad that he was about to be held up, Ray D. Lillibridge a traveling salesman from New York City walked into the robber's hands tonight. When Lillibridge told the robber he had nothing of value he was made the target for two shots fired by the highwayman. One of the shots pierced one of the lapels of his overcoat and aroused J. F. Stevens, in front of whose house the holdup occurred. At the appearance of Stevens, the robber fired at him. The bullet went through the house over the heads of four members of the Stevens family and lodged in a piano.

The robber then took flight and has not been arrested.

CONSCIENCE IS SATISFIED

"I am content and my conscience has been satisfied," Trigg said as he walked out of the Monticello jail. He will return to his farm.

SCORE MEN INVOLVED IN ALLEGED CROOKED NEW HAVEN R.R. DEALS

Sensors Denounce Men
Involved In Past Performances as Criminals

SHOULD OCCUPY CELLS

Borah Asserts Men Should Be
In Penitentiary If Charges Made Are Substantiated

ACCUSED OF DEFRAUDING POOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Men involved in some of the past performances of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad were denounced as criminals in the senate today. Senator Borah said they should be occupying penitentiary cells if charges relating to the corporation affairs are substantiated.

There were intimations that the federal government still contemplates instituting criminal action against certain individuals engaged in transactions of the New Haven which have been investigated by the interstate commerce commission.

The discussion arose when Senator Norris of Nebraska called up his resolution which would direct the commission to extend its inquiry into the New Haven's affairs, particularly with a view to ascertaining what became of millions of dollars of the New Haven's funds declared to have been fraudulently withheld from the railroad's stockholders.

Senator Norris insisted that further investigation at least might furnish a basis for proceedings by the present management of the New Haven to recover something for the widows or orphans who have been "plundered."

The senator declared that the commission had not completed its investigation as to the New Haven because it feared it might be compelled to extend immunity to offenders. It was his reading of sections of this report that prompted Senator Borah to assert that men, if proven guilty of the financial transactions described "should be in the penitentiary."

Senator Borah declared his faith in the attorney general to push prosecutions of certain men involved in alleged crooked New Haven deals. For him not to proceed on disclosures made if ground for the revelations should prove sound he said would lay the attorney general open to impeachment.

Former Commissioner Prouty in a letter to E. E. Clark, chairman of the committee forwarded to Senators Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee expressed doubt in the wisdom of a further inquiry into the New Haven.

In this letter which was read to the senate, Mr. Prouty asserted that the committee had in its possession all the information it had been possible for it to obtain with relation to the New Haven's affairs. A senate committee, Mr. Prouty suggested to accomplish more than the commission, because the latter had no jurisdiction over affairs of some construction companies and other concerns which were involved in the railroad's deals.

Consideration of the resolution will be resumed in the senate tomorrow.

New York, Feb. 6.—Chairman Edward Elliott announced after a meeting of the executive committee of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad today that the road's attorneys had presented to Attorney General McKendall the names of five men to act as trustees of the New Haven's holdings of Boston & Maine railroad stock in connection with the plan for the dissolution of the New Haven system. He refused, however, to make the names known.

Charles F. Brooker of Ansonia, Conn., resigned from the executive committee today and Edward Milligan was recommended as his successor. J. L. Richards of Boston, was recommended to fill the vacancy on the committee left by the resignation of J. P. Morgan.

Chairman Elliott denied that the New Haven had received an offer for its holdings of merchants and miners transportation company stock as reported.

MUCH OPPOSITION TO REPEAL MAY DEVELOP

EFFORTS TO REPEAL PROVISION OF CANAL ACT WILL BRING HOT DEBATE

Proposed Bill Favored By President Wilson Will Provoke Full Discussion of Present Foreign Policy—President's Letter to Baltimore Sets Forth His Point of View.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President Wilson's expressed desire for repeal of the provision of the Panama canal act which exempts American coastwise ships from tolls, it was apparent tonight will precipitate spirited debate in both houses of congress when the bill to carry out the suggestion is submitted.

Sensors and representatives discussed the situation informally today but no move was made in the matter.

That opposition to the repeal will develop in the house interstate commerce committee was indicated today by Representative Knowland of California a member of the committee who declared:

"We are paying a dear price for the friendship of Great Britain even though it may help us out in Mexico. The proposed bill will, I predict, precipitate one of the most spirited debates which has been heard in congress for years and will provoke a free and full discussion of present foreign policy."

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice the British ambassador called on President Wilson today. It was understood that the prospective visit to America of a distinguished Englishman was the chief purpose of the conference, though the opportunity that it afforded for a discussion of the Panama canal tolls controversy gave rise to considerable speculation in diplomatic circles.

Is a "Mistaken Policy."

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 6.—President Wilson in a letter to William L. Marbury of this city, which will be published in the Baltimore Sun tomorrow says that the exemption of American coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls "constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view and benefits for the present at any rate only a monopoly."

The president also pays a high tribute to Secretary of State Bryan. The letter follows:

"White House, Washington, Feb. 5th, 1914.

"My Dear Mr. Marbury: I have your letter of Jan. 30th. With regard to the question of canal tolls my opinion is very clear. The exemption constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view. It is economically unjust; as a matter of fact it benefits for the present at any rate only a monopoly, and it seems to me in clear violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. This is, however, much honest difference of opinion of the last point as there is, no doubt as to the others; but it is at least debatable and if the promises we make in such matters are charitable I for one, do not care to debate them. I think the country would prefer to let no question arise as to its wholehearted purpose to redeem its promises in the light of any reasonable construction of them rather than debate a point of honor."

Your reference to the Secretary of State shows how comprehensively you have looked on during the last months. Not only have Mr. Bryan's character, his justice, his sincerity, his transparent integrity, his Christian principle made a deep impression upon all with whom he has dealt but his tact in dealing with men of many sorts, his capacity for business, his mastery of the principles of each matter he has been called upon to deal with have been away many a difficult and have given to the policy of the state department a definiteness and dignity that are very admirable. I need not say what pleasure and profit I myself have taken from close association with Mr. Bryan or how thoroughly he has seemed to all of us who are associated with him here to deserve no only our conscience but our affectionate admiration."

"Sincerely yours,

(Signed)
"Woodrow Wilson."

Zero weather today extended as far south as Texas and in the northwest states the mercury went to forty below. The cold today was central of the Ohio Valley. All parts of the country except the Atlantic states reported sudden low temperatures.

WOODMEN GETTING READY FOR STATE MEETING

Fight for Control is Being Waged Warmly Between Insurgents and Regulars.

Throughout the state of Illinois the big caldron of the Modern Woodmen of America is boiling. Local camp meetings are being held everywhere for the purpose of choosing delegates for respective county camp meetings later.

All along the line is noted the fight for control between the insurgent Woodmen and the regulars. At the county camp meetings delegates will be chosen to attend the state camp meeting. Efforts are being made on both sides to get control of the state camp meeting in order to control the delegates sent to the national meeting in Toledo next June.

In spite of the fact that the present officials of the organization protest that the rate question is no longer an issue, the insurgents are bent upon ousting the present incumbents of office and placing representatives of their faction into power.

Rate Question Not the Only One.
An effort will be made to keep discussion off the rate question at the head camp meeting, but at the national gathering it probably will receive its full quota of attention. That some very important matters will come before the national delegates in Toledo is indicated by officials however.

Among the questions will be the following:
1.—Agitation for a new ritual.
2.—More comprehensive degree system.
3.—Creation of a trial court before which all charges against members of the society shall be heard.

A committee probably will be named to draw up a new ritual in answer to the demands of many members. It is believed that a new degree system should be provided to furnish greater fraternal lessons and benefits and create a closer bond of fellowship between the members.
The trial court if established will be independent of the executive council and will be composed of men who have no connection with the official family of the society.

MAGILL WANTS MOVIES IN THE SCHOOLS

That the time is not far distant when the public schools of Illinois—the larger and more advanced institutions at least—will be on a motion picture circuit under the direction of school authorities, the purpose of which will be to broaden education through the use of the film, was intimated today by State Senator Hugh S. Magill, president of the Illinois State Teachers' association and superintendent of the Springfield schools.

The movement for such a circuit in Illinois was born at a meeting of the Champaign board of education recently at which W. W. Earnest, superintendent of the Champaign public schools, declared his intention of going into the proposition thoroughly.
When Mr. Magill's attention was called to the action of the Champaign board he was very much interested. "Many schools in the state are now using the stereopticon slides," Mr. Magill said. "That was a big step forward. I am convinced that many fine motion pictures could be purchased that would be of great value to our educational work. A circuit of schools such as has been suggested could, I believe, accomplish a lot with the films."

WAS MUSICIAN IN

U. S. CALVARY BAND Jack Devlin, instead of being in the marines, as stated in the Journal recently was a musician in the famous W. S. 5th Calvary band, having seen service in the Hawaiian Islands and on the Mexican border in Arizona. He served three years in the regiment and was honorably discharged at Ft. Meyer, Va., near the city of Washington on the 29th day of January.

He liked the life of a "bold soldier boy" and was kindly treated by his companions in arms. He was loathe to part from them, and already feels like a "fish out of water." He has not decided as to what he is going to do in the near future, but he is undoubtedly a fine performer upon the cornet, and did not forget to bring home a first class instrument, which is a treat to hear him play upon.

MISSOURI RAILROAD RATE CASES AGAIN BEFORE COURT

Cases in Litigation For Many Years Stars on Another Journey to Nation's Highest Tribunal.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 6.—The Missouri railroad rate cases, in litigation many years were started on another journey to the supreme court of the United States tonight when Eugene E. Ball, a partner of Frank Hagerman, attorney for the thirteen roads involved, departed for Red Oak, Iowa, the home of Judge Smith McPherson of the Federal court to obtain the judge's signature to an appeal to the supreme court from Judge McPherson's decision today in which he held he had no power to retain jurisdiction of suits to recover alleged overcharges from the railroads.

The railroads seek an order from the higher court compelling Judge McPherson to take jurisdiction over the claim of shippers and passengers who paid the higher rates during the life of the injunction that Judge McPherson granted against the enforcement of the rate laws. The claims amount to approximately $24,000,000.

In their "assignment of errors" on which the appeal is based the railroads allege the court erred in "decreting that it refused jurisdiction to settle and determine all liability if any for alleged overcharges between shippers and passengers and complainant."

It also is charged that the court was in error in "holding it was without any discretion to reserve such jurisdiction and had no power under the mandate and that the opinion of the supreme court so to do."

The appointment of a master to take jurisdiction over such claims as might be filed in the federal court is objected to the railroads alleging they had never consented to such an arrangement.

Mr. Ball said tonight he expected Judge McPherson to sign the order for appeal tomorrow. John T. Parker, attorney general of the Missouri, then will have thirty days to file an answer in the supreme court. The cases probably will not be reached for decision by the higher court, it is said before its summer adjournment.

REPORT DISSENSIONS AMONG PANKHURSTS

DISAGREEMENTS IN INNER CIRCLES OF MILITANT ORGANIZATION RUMORED.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst still in Switzerland—Christabel is said to want to drop militancy—Sylvia would test fighting strength of her "People's Army."

London, Feb. 6.—Reports of dissensions in the inner circles of the militant organization involving the Pankhurst triumvirate are in circulation here.

According to these Christabel Pankhurst is anxious to end her long exile in Paris and return to London and take control of organization for it is doubtful if her mother, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is still in Switzerland, will be well enough for some months to resume her arduous duties of command-in-chief.

But Christabel, the report says, desires to come back under conditions that will not necessitate frequent terms of imprisonment for her under the cat and mouse act. Therefore, it is said, she wants militancy dropped.

In this stand she has the support of many of the older members of the organization who believe that while militancy has accomplished the purpose of bringing the suffrage question to the front continuance of militant tactics will be injurious to the cause.

Sylvia Pankhurst, on the other hand, is not prepared to abandon militancy until she has fully tested the fighting capacity of her "people's army," which she organized in the east end of London and with which she is credited as believing she can start a revolution which will force the government to enfranchise women.

Several of the younger and more ambitious members of the woman's social and political union view with unconcealed satisfaction the Pankhurst feud, believing that it will end the autocratic sway the Pankhursts have exercised over the society since Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pettibone Lawrence were driven out of it last year.

SECEDES FROM ORGANIZATION.

London, Feb. 6.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of the militant suffragette leader today announced her secession from the Woman's Social and Political Union, the militant woman's organization. Her East End London federation, which hitherto has been a branch of the parent organization will henceforth be entirely independent.

A GOOD OPINION OF JACKSONVILLE

Col. Hunt, manager of the opera house, speaking to a Journal reporter yesterday said that he had been in places from Canada to the gulf but was never in one which he liked as well as Jacksonville. He has found the people kind and sociable and all with whom he has come in contact have been pleasant and agreeable. Of the strangers whom he has entertained the only kickers he has found were those who had some unworthy scheme they wanted to work and found the people of the city too smart to be deceived.

ASK SUPREME COURT TO NAME JUDGE FOR THIS DISTRICT

Docket Is Becoming So Congested That Action Was Thought Necessary by Judges Creighton and Shirley.

Request that the Illinois supreme court immediately name another judge to relieve the congestion on the docket since the appointment of Judge Owen P. Thompson to the public utilities commission was made today by Judge J. A. Creighton of Springfield and Judge Robert Shirley of Carlinville.

At the time Judge Thompson was appointed it was believed that Judges Creighton and Shirley could handle the work of the Morgan county circuit court as well as the rest of the Seventh district.

Morgan county, however, has piled up many cases and a temporary judge, to act until the election of a successor to Judge Thompson, is likely to be appointed.

Heavy Court Business in Springfield.

According to the Springfield News, present conditions make it necessary that another judge be selected who can arrange to give some of his time to the work in Sangamon county. Judge Creighton had planned to set the criminal cases during this month but the immense amount of other business made it advisable to defer the criminal work until March and it is not considered likely that any criminal work will be taken up before March 1.

The criminal docket now includes over eighty cases, five of which are murder charges, and to shorten the docket will require several weeks of court work next month.

Many of the appeals from the railroad and warehouse commission have been on the court docket for some time and Judge Creighton has arranged to call a docket setting on February 16, at which all the commission appeals ready for trial will be set. The hearing of the appeal cases will begin on February 23.

Red and Sore. Like Little Boils. Would Wake Up At Night and Scratch. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Three Weeks.

Falls City, Neb.—"My trouble began when I was about sixteen. My face broke out in little pimples at first. They were red and sore and then became like little boils. I picked at my face continually and it made my face red and sore looking and then I would wake up at night and scratch it. It was a source of continual annoyance to me, as my face was always red and spotted and burned all the time.

"I tried... and others, but I could find nothing to cure it. I had been troubled about two years before I found Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and tried them and I then bought some. I washed my face good with the Cuticura Soap and hot water at night and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. In the morning I washed it off with the Cuticura Soap and hot water. In two days I noticed a decided improvement, while in three weeks the cure was complete." (Signed) Judith Knowles, Jan. 10, 1913.

BASKET BALL DOPE ON HIGH SCHOOLS

PICKING OF WINNERS IN THE TOURNAMENT DIFFICULT.

Eight Teams in Central District Showing Strength—Rockford Loses First Game on Home Floor in Eight Years.

Tonight's Games.

Bloomington at Peoria Central, Virginia at Pittsfield, Centralia at Anna.

Many big games were played last night between Illinois high school basketball teams. No intersectional teams, however, met and the results were of little use in measuring the relative strengths of the various districts.

Judging from the class the many good teams in the various parts of the state have shown so far, there are no more than three districts out of the eight where the dopesters can pick with any degree of certainty the team which is going to win out in the tournaments, February 27 and 28. In these three, the southern, north central and western, it is fairly conceded that Centralia in the south, Springfield in the west and Peoria in the north central have the jump on all the teams they will meet in the preliminaries and are sure to go into the finals to be held March 6 and 7, probably at Decatur, if not, at Bloomington.

Eight Good Teams.

There are at least eight good teams in the central district, of which Bloomington is the center, that think they have a chance to carry away the honors for this district. These are the three teams at Bloomington—Normal, University High and Bloomington—Decatur, Pontiac, Drummer High of Gibson City, Lexington and El Paso. The first five are considered the strongest, though early in the season, when Lexington was defeating Normal and University High, and when El Paso walloped University High by a big score, these two teams seem to have a fine chance for the honors. Drummer High has a splendid team, but it has not had a chance to show against the rank one team so far.

Bloomington has the best record to date of these eight teams, not having lost a game. University High is now walloping all the big teams that Bloomington is meeting. They won from Lexington, Peoria Manual and El Paso, all by decisive scores, last week and defeated the strong Decatur team this week, but this victory was attributable in a large measure to the fact that Decatur's star forward, Devore, was unable to play because of injuries. Devore is easily one of the fastest forwards in the state and with him in condition, Decatur is going to make a strong bid for tournament honors.

One of the games that meant the most last week was Bloomington's victory over Springfield, 29 to 23. As an intersectional contest this game proved that the central division is superior to the western, as the central division has several teams in the same class with Bloomington, while Springfield is conceded to be far in the lead in the western part of the state.

A pleasing feature of the week was Normal's victory over Lexington, not because Lexington lost, but because of the improvement in the Normal team, which has struck a fast pace after several losses, one of which was to Lexington several weeks ago.

Peoria Central has had a week of rest and is ready for a hard game on their own floor with Bloomington tonight. This is probably the most important game of the week, for on its results depends much good material for the mathematicians who figure by comparative scores. Peoria has the advantage of playing on its own floor. The score is bound to be a close one.

Peoria Manual Going Bad. Galesburg is anticipating no trouble in disposing of Peoria Manual at Peoria tonight. Of all the good teams on paper, none looked better at the beginning of the season than did Manual. As it has lost six games in succession, nothing remains to be said more than that a change in the system of coaching seems to be needed badly.

Galesburg got sweet revenge by defeating Abingdon, 24 to 21, last week. Each team now has a victory. Galesburg then finished the week by trouncing Moline, 36 to 13. The surprise of the week in this division was Rock Island's large score against Monmouth, 52 to 7. Monmouth had beaten Kewanee and Aledo, two strong teams, and lost to Galesburg by a small margin. The question now is who is going to win when Rock Island and Galesburg get together in the tournament. That together in the tournament, that together in the tournament, that together in the tournament.

Elgin Defeats Rockford. Elgin won from Rockford, 17 to 15, the first time Rockford has lost on its own floor in eight years. Elgin is still undefeated in its own division and the result was interesting as comparing the teams of these two divisions. Rockford is considered about fourth in its district.

Freeport Coming Strong. The strong Freeport team defeated Sterling and Belvidere won from East Aurora last week. Freeport and Belvidere, with teams composed of veterans, seem to have the edge on other teams in that district, though both have been defeated by small scores. Other strong teams in this district are Sycamore and Woodstock and a splendid tournament is expected, Feb. 20 and 21. The tournament in this district is to be held a week earlier than the others in order to obtain the use of the Rockford armory.

Joliet won two games last week, trouncing Lockport and Kankakee in one-sided games. Division honors seem to lie almost wholly between Joliet and Elgin, with odds in favor of Joliet. Batavia was Joliet's victim last night.

The victorious Danville team in the eastern division played Lafayette last night. Danville will make Shelbyville, Hillsboro, Paris and Charleston hostile during the tournament.

No Change in Southern District. There is no particular change in the southern district. Granite City entertained Litchfield last Friday night with a 70 to 27 score. Granite City is the only team in that division that has a chance to beat out Centralia. Centralia went to Hillsboro, in the southeastern division, and won, 22 to 20, on a bad floor. Mt. Vernon won from Benton, Eldorado beat DuQuoin by a large score, Carbondale trimmed Anna, 35 to 25, and Coach Warren's boys are almost sure of second place in the south end of the state.

WILL ATTEMPT TO STOP TINKER FROM PLAYING

ORGANIZED BASEBALL NOW AFTER MANAGER OF CHICAGO FEDS.

After Conference With Ebbetts, Murphy States He Feels Sure Tinker Had Legally Accepted Terms With Brooklyn Nationals Before Signing Federal Contract—Other News of the Sporting World.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—An effort to stop Joe Tinker himself from playing ball this season will be made by organized baseball, according to President Murphy of the Cubs, who said today he felt sure Tinker had legally "accepted" terms with the Brooklyn Nationals before he had signed his Federal League contract, thus furnishing grounds for a suit.

Murphy's statement followed a conference with Charles Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club who returned to his home after signing Pitcher Wagner. Ebbetts, it is understood, did not see Tinker while here. The expected shift of the Toronto Federal league franchise to Cincinnati or Cleveland may take place tomorrow at the meeting of the league heads here. President Gilmore is expected back from the Canadian City with a report on conditions there which according to reports which preceded him today will be unfavorable to the league continuing there. Arthur Irwin, representing the New York Americans was due in Chicago today for a conference with Rollie Zeider who has signed a Federal league contract and Edward Sweeney who is on the fence between offers from the Yankees and the Buffalo "outlaws." None of the three appeared at places usually frequented by baseball men and if any conferences took place they were secret.

Umpire Henry O'Day will present to the rules meeting at New York next week several changes, which he says are important. O'Day is the inventor of the foul strike rule. Confirmation of the story that Al Bridwell shortstop had signed with the St. Louis Federals came today in a letter from Bridwell to President Murphy.

New York, Feb. 6.—Three balloons have been entered by the Imperial Aero club of Germany in the Gordon Bennett race, which is to start from Kansas City, Mo., next October, according to a cable message given out tonight by the Aero club of America. This is the first entry received for the race. It is expected that all of the eighteen countries forming the International Aeronautical Federation will send three balloons each.

Invitations to take part in the Kansas City race were sent about two weeks ago and at the Aero club the prompt response of the Germans was taken to indicate that eagerness to enter craft in the event is particularly keen in Europe. In addition to the Gordon Bennett trophy which was won by the Americans in 1913, the Aero club of Kansas City, it was announced, has offered $7,200 in prizes to be divided among the first seven winners.

LOCAL FIVE WON THREE GAMES PAST WEEK

Willikins Triumphs Over Wesleyan and T teams Will Be Strong Contenders in Final Tournament—Augustana Still Undefeated in North.

Tonight's Games.

Willikins at Bradley, Normal at Hedding, Augustana at Carthage.

Illinois Wesleyan met its Waterloo Tuesday night at Decatur, when Willikins' last five trounced the Bloomingtonites, 28 to 22, and forever spoiled that 1,000 per centage which Wesleyan had maintained for six conference games. Coach Ashmore sprung "the unexpected" and Wesleyan was helpless. It may be years before any of the large audience who saw the game will see another such a battle. It was without doubt the speediest contest ever seen in Decatur, due to the rivalry between these two teams and the splendid condition of every man on both squads.

The feature of the game was the fact that "Brick" Young, five years a star forward of the minor conference, was held to no baskets by Joe Catlin, Coach Ashmore's newest protégé and former Springfield high star. Young had been averaging about 20 points a game all season and often his total baskets ran high in the "teens," but Catlin made him look foolish.

Wesleyan and Willikins now have one game apiece. As a result of the drawing at Peoria these teams will lock horns in the tournament of the southern division at Decatur, March 6 and 7. As they are the strongest in this section, the loser is bound to be one of the four teams to enter the finals at Bloomington. McKendree and Illinois College are expected to make out the four to enter the finals, eliminating Shurtleff, Lincoln and Charleston.

Illinois Coming Strong.

Illinois College won two games last week from Hedding and Carthage and one last Wednesday night from Shurtleff. The Jacksonville boys are coming strong. Charleston Normal made a trip to Carbondale and lost to Southern Illinois Normal. Coach Lantz seems to lack the material this year and he has fought shy of conference games. Shurtleff is having one of the worst years in its history.

In the northern half of the conference, Augustana is still undefeated by a conference team, now alone in the 1,000 per cent class. As it meets two of the weakest conference teams this week it will undoubtedly win both games by large scores. It will be impossible to get a line on Augustana's strength before the Peoria tournament because the Swedes have no games scheduled with the stronger conference teams. But Augustana has a strong squad and, as it looks now, the first four places in the final tournament lie between Augustana, Willikins, Wesleyan and Normal.

Peoria Tournament Winners?

Normal, Augustana, Bradley and possibly Hedding will be the winners of the Peoria tournament, March 6 and 7. Shurtleff, Eureka, Lombard and W. & V. have exceedingly weak teams this year. There is only one good player on the Hedding team, and that is Captain Coleman, as Hedding can hardly hope to place higher than eighth place, if it survives the preliminaries.

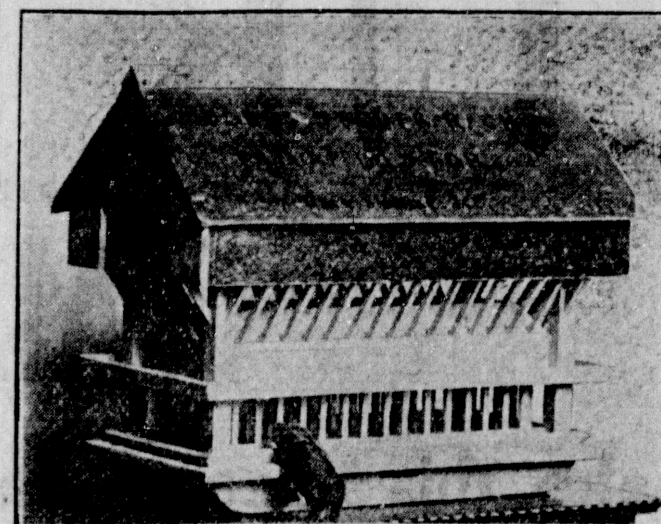

Normal won from W. & V. last night and should win from Hedding tonight. The next week, however, is the crisis for Normal, with a game with Willikins, Feb. 13, and with Wesleyan four days later. Should Normal win only one of these games, the teachers will still be on a par with the leaders.

Willikins is expected to win from Bradley Saturday night at Peoria, but it will be no easy battle. Coach Brown is fast getting his team into shape for the tournament and may have something up his sleeve that will surprise Ashmore's tribe. This team defeated Hedding Wednesday night by a close score, 29 to 28.

QUOTATIONS WORK LOWER SLOWLY ON STOCK EXCHANGE

During Most of Day Market Plods on In the Dull Way of the Last Few Sessions, Apparently Unable to Break
Away from a Dead Level.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Quotations worked lower slowly on the stock exchange today. There was no important change in the situation to stimulate speculation and during most of the day the market plodded on in the dull way of the last few sessions, apparently unable to break away from a dead level. Speculative opinion, however, was more bearish. The recent tendency of the market encouraged traders to work for a reaction and in the latter part of the day selling became heavier. A number of the popular stocks closed at materially lower figures.

Further unfavorable railroad reports for December, and Washington advises indicating the probability of a delay of the decision in the freight rate case operated against the railroad stocks. New York Central was weak, falling off to 91½.

Rock Island shares resumed their decline. In the industrial list the

FARMERS INTERESTED IN SWEET CLOVER

DE KALB COUNTY AGRICULTURIST WRITES OF ITS USES.

Many Farmers Need a Leguminous Plant That Will Withstand Adverse Seasons and Acidity of the Soil, Such as Sweet Clover, Which Is a Biennial Legume.

(By Wm. G. Eckhardt, University of Illinois, 1905 County Agriculturist, DeKalb County).

Owing to the great interest in sweet clover I shall try to set forth some of the notches in farming where it may fit. This interest is due in part to the need for a leguminous plant that will suffer less injury from adverse seasons and withstand the acidity of the soil, and in part to the fact that most of us were compelled years ago to mow the supposed pest with a scythe or dig it up with a spade.

When the nature of the plant is understood we realize at once that it cannot be a bad weed. It is a biennial, or in other words, it lives but two years. The seed that came up in the spring of 1912 grew to the height of a foot or more that season, and in the fall looked much like alfalfa. The next spring this plant was the first thing that was green along the roadside and by midsummer had reached a height of six inches, making as much as five tons of dry material on an acre. This five tons is worth as much for humus nitrogen as the average twenty tons of farm manure.

On the right—five sweet clover plants not inoculated. On the left—five plants that are inoculated.

Taken from a field in DeKalb county where sweet clover failed, showing that the roadside may be perfectly inoculated, but a few rods within the field there may not be the required bacteria.

A Wonderful Plant.

Sweet clover is a most wonderful plant, and deserves a place on many farms, but study it carefully, for it will not grow in the fields as it does along the roadside. It is a legume and by means of nitrogen gathering bacteria that live in the tubercles or nodules upon its roots it has the power to use the nitrogen of the air as it enters the soil. As we go along the road we observe at the roadside where the surface has been graded away to a depth of two or three feet the sweet clover grows in the purest clay subsoil. There are two reasons for this. First, it gets its nitrogen from the air, and second, this subsoil in many cases still has an abundance of lime. In other words, sweet clover needs a soil inoculated with the bacteria that live on the sweet clover plant and a soil free from acid. When these conditions are present, I know of no plant that promises more where it fits with its great capacity to use and store atmospheric nitrogen, with its large amount of humus formed in one season, and its ability to grow on land for too wet and light for its better, relative, alfalfa.

It is well now to observe where it will fit in our systems of farming. First, we would probably like to grow it in the regular rotation as we now use red clover. This use must be limited. Sweet clover must be cut for hay three or four weeks earlier than red clover. Red clover comes too early, for we must be in the corn field during June and early July throughout the corn belt. Early June is also not a very favorable time to cure a hay that must be cut as full of sap as is sweet clover the first half of June. Where it is not cut for hay, but allowed to go to seed which will ripen in July or early August it can thus be used for a time with profit. Ultimately seed must be cheap, for it yields abundantly. One DeKalb county farmer threshed 23 bags of seed in the rough from four acres in the season of 1913, and was offered $150 for the seed by a neighbor.

Inoculation.

The writer saw about 500 acres of sweet clover during the season of 1914 in northern Illinois and Iowa. Many fields were absolutely failures, plants never getting over four or five inches high, owing to the lack of inoculation, or both to the lack of inoculation and to acid soil. The farmers invariably pointed out that it grows along the roadside and in every fence corner, then why not in the fields a few rods away. Perhaps there are several reasons. The road side in most cases, never had a crop removed, but, on the contrary, has accumulated fertility from the passing teams. The same agency that distributed the seed also distributed the inoculation, that is to say, the seed and soil adhered to the foot of a passing animal, or a wagon wheel, or was washed by the rain. Why does not the farmer expect the seed to be in the field as well as the inoculation? Years of experience has taught him that he must seed if he expects to harvest, and this "bug business" takes some time to take hold. Inoculate the seed by gluing a few quarts of dry, sifted inoculated soil on a bushel of seed. Dissolve a pound of ordinary furniture glue in three gallons of water, and about one quart of this solution will moisten one bushel of seed sufficiently so that the dry sifted inoculated soil when thoroughly mixed with the damp seed will adhere to it.

Another use will be to seed one or two pounds of inoculated sweet clover seed per acre in addition to

AVERAGE SCHOOL BREAKS DOWN HEALTH

CONDITION EXISTS BECAUSE OF LACK OF KNOWLEDGE.

Director of Physical Training for Women at University Prescribes Plenty of Fresh Air and Pleasant Exercise as Means of Keeping Body in Healthful Condition.

(By Gertrude E. Moulton, Director of Physical Training for Women, University of Illinois, Before the Women of the Short Course).

Among the possible objects of endeavor in life, health is the most fundamental. Without it no one of the other subjects is of great value to one. It is the old story of the sound mind in a sound body, the sound body is at the bottom of it all. Yet a sound body is often not as healthy as it seems. The body is a machine, and we must frequently deliberately play to do those things which break down health rather than that which builds it up. Our whole school system is an illustration of this. In the average school very subtle taught except music and physical training tends to break down the health of the child because of the way it is taught. (The Gary, Ind., schools are a notable exception to this). It is largely because of lack of knowledge that this condition exists. Few individuals have studied their personal health, although much has been written of it in various ways.

Body and Mind Closely Related

One of the most important facts which confronts us as we study the health of individuals is the close relation between body and mind. A girl who is depressed finds it hard to hold up her chest, and her breathing becomes shallow. This posture and reduced amount of oxygen affects her circulation and elimination. With the additional waste products in the body she becomes more depressed and as she becomes more depressed additional waste products are formed in the body. Mind and body are so closely related that probably the influence of either on the other is always mutual. Richardson talks of "destructive passions of anger, hate and fear" and he means destructive physically and mentally. Annie Payson Call talks of "nervous strain from sham emotion." All specialists long realized that here must be control of emotions, that is of states of mind, not only for mental health but also for bodily health. It is an established fact that sorrow and fear contract the muscles of the arteries and bronchial tubes, and actually hinder the physical process of circulation and deep breathing. Joyful happy mental states relax these same muscles and aid the physical processes. One of the most important rules in seeking health is to keep the mind so full of things that we have no time for continued or frequent introspection.

Need Pleasurable Exercise.

There are three physical conditions of a healthy body. One is well oxygenated blood. This is controlled in two ways—first, by the amount of blood going into the lungs, that is, the quickness of circulation, and second, the amount of oxygen going into the lungs—depending upon the kind of breathing and the freshness of the air. Quickness of circulation depends upon exercise. Any kind of exercise in which the large muscles of the body are actively engaged will satisfy this need, provided that exercise is pleasurable. O'Shea says: "It seems to be a principle of our human nature that that which we like to do is in general better for us than things we hate." Play constitutes by all odds the most efficient method of exercise. Mr. Ehler has written in mind when he wrote this need in mind when he wrote "gym" is a nuisance and a bore. Gymnastics might be dropped out entirely from the curriculum of the normal boy or girl without any loss whatever to the individual. But this only relates to a part of one of the laws of health and there are others just as important. So much has been written of this form of exercise (play) that I will leave it. The second condition of well oxygenated blood is the amount of oxygen going into the lungs. If we rely upon unusually deep breathing all the time for this we violate our rule that we must keep our minds so full of other things that we do not have time for thought of the effect on self. The best way for the person with average or normal respirations is to increase the supply of oxygen or (fresh air) in which she moves. Occasionally raise your chest and take several deep inspirations in fresh air, then turn your mind to other work, and forget the health—but make plans which keep in lots of fresh air whether you want to be or not. Among college girls there seems to be few who really sleep in fresh air in winter time. There is never so good a supply in the corners of rooms, yet half the girls I have questioned sleep with their heads in the corners. Many of them tell me that they are careful to see that no draft comes on their heads. A few even keep their windows shut. The ideal sleeping arrangement would be a bed which could be kept inside until one was in bed and then slid out to the outdoors, and slid in again in the morning. This would enable one to go to bed in the warm room and get up in a warm room—but sleep with air coming in from three sides. A bed might be made which was half in and half out. The ends of this bed should be half circles with grooves near the circumference. A roll top arrangement, like a roll top desk, should fit in these grooves and should be large enough to extend from the edge of the bed to the center of the end piece, plus half the thickness of the wall. You could then, by adjusting this top, shut the bed indoors or out at will. You could go to bed in a warm bed, after you were comfortably settled, you could reach up and pull the roll top over to the inside of the room, and find yourself out in the open air. In the morning you could reverse the position of the roll top and you would be in your comfortable room before you left the bed. The fresh air habit is one that takes time to form, but once it is formed you would not change for anything else on earth. Don't be afraid of a draft of cold air. Woods-Hutchinson says: "You ought to feel uncomfortable unless you can feel air blowing across your face day and night." The fresh air habit, by increasing the amount of oxygen which reaches the blood, with undue thought of the individual or the process, will do more than any other one thing to prevent disease of all kinds by raising the resistive power of the individual. Of course that does not mean that if you have fresh air you will have less trouble with disease than someone else who does not have fresh air, but it does mean that the same individual will have less trouble if she keeps herself supplied continually with fresh air than she will have if she keeps herself surrounded with bad air.

MRS. SMITH WRITES OF MUSIC AS FACTOR IN COMMUNITY LIFE

Old Custom of the Family Music Hour Should Be Restored and Retained in Future Generations.

(By Constance Barlow-Smith, Assistant Professor, School of Music, University of Illinois).

That singing should be an every day indulgence by people in all classes of society is indisputable, because of the known benefits to mind and body derived from it. In a recent article in the "Corn Belter" I made the statement that the present generation of American youth has missed much of real happiness, also one of the strongest appeals to family affection and home ties, by the abolition of the song-hour in the home. Now that we are turning back to the social standards of fifty or more years ago, we can but wish that the old and well established custom of the family music-hour will be restored and retained in future generations. Of all the old customs which we now seek to adorn our walls, none are more typical of happy domestic relations than those that depict the family group, either in the act of singing, or listening to music.

The human family has an instinct for music and naturally there must be some means of expressing this universal craving for it. I cannot imagine a community without some means to express music. The schools, churches, town halls and homes are the centers where institutes, grange and clubs meet for business, religious or social purposes; these are also the music centers, where the walls of the buildings should vibrate with the songs that the people love to sing. It is a very simple matter to secure a half hour for song to open every institute or club program. An instrument, an accompanist and a leader are usually available and I am sure that such a custom will in a very short time insure promptness in attendance and good fellowship—a closing song will help bridge differences and leaves one in a better frame of mind.

Prominent Factor in Social Life.

Music ought to be a prominent factor in the social life of the young people in every community. God has given them a love for it and there is a strong appeal through rhythms to buoyant nature—therefore, suitable music should be provided for their enjoyment. Mechanical instruments are available and good records can be purchased that will be both entertaining and instructive. Many boys and girls seek amusements in nearby towns, or in other communities because the music that they desire, and will have is furnished in those places and not at home. This fact, alone, is an incentive for making music a part of the recreations of the young people. It is needless to dwell upon the fact that trashy songs with unworthy texts are a menace to the morals and manners of youth and should find no welcome in refined homes.

In foreign countries, especially in Germany and England, the principles of religion and patriotism are instilled in the hearts and minds of children in the schools, through songs, and music is taught as a regular study; it is there that the taste for good music is developed, which stands for added enjoyment in later years. Whoever saw a child from the schools in Germany who did not know the words to their songs? They know a selected list. Can we not devise some plan whereby our boys and girls can be induced to learn the words of their songs?

Public School Music Department.

The school of music at the University has a public school music department, where students are being trained to teach music in the schools, for the purpose of conserving the voices of the children, developing a love for good music and teaching the children to read the high, as it should be. ## SECOND ARTICLE ON HOME LIGHTING

BEST METHOD OF SECURING GOOD LIGHTING IN FARM HOME.

Lamp Hung Near Ceiling With Translucent Shade Gives Better Light Than Lamp Hung Lower—Attention to Effective Lighting Will Increase Comfort of the Home.

(By Morgan Brooks, Professor of Electrical Engineering, University of Illinois).

Part II. Lighting Methods Illustrated

This simplest and the crudest method of lighting a room is by suspending a lamp from the center of the ceiling, allowing the light to go out in all directions and gain what it may by reflection from ceiling and walls. The effect is especially bad when the lamp is hung low, bringing it within the field of vision in all parts of the room. Figure 1 shows a much better arrangement for direct lighting. The lamp is hung near the ceiling, and is provided with a translucent shade, which serves the double purpose of directing a sufficient quantity of light downward to permit reading around a center table, indicated in the diagram, and also allowing a moderate amount of light to pass through the shade for the general lighting of the room without producing a glare. A frosted lamp alone would prevent the glare, but would not send enough light downward if que reflector shade would send more light down, but prevent the general illumination, giving a gloomy effect. Figure 1 has heavy lines to indicate the strong rays downward, has lighter lines to show the diffuse light going through the translucent shade, and dotted lines to indicate the gain of light by reflection from ceiling and walls. A single lamp of from 30 to 80 candles intensity will serve to light a small room having a floor area not exceeding 150 square feet. For larger rooms, unless the ceiling is unusually high, when a single lamp may serve, two or more lamps or fixtures must be used to obtain good effects.

tone-language, as naturally as they do the language of speech. It is a simple matter for two or more communities to join together, engaging a teacher to divide her time between them, at a small cost to each. In this way the children receive immediate benefits, and the communities are repaid many times over, for in a few years there will be better choir and congregational singing, also larger musical activities.

Older people need music in their recreations as well as in the church service, because it lifts them above the common places, and furnishes an escape from the worries, perplexities and limitations of every day life; they cannot afford to do without this helpful influence.

The farmer who sings while at work in the field will accomplish more than he who does not, on the principle of, when the heart is light the burden is easy. This has been proved beyond doubt, in the cotton fields of the south, where plantation managers have made a study of the effect of song singing while cotton-picking. I hope the farmers of Illinois will try the effect of singing while ploughing, sowing and reaping. Statistics will be interesting. And now I take pleasure in proposing a slogan for your consideration in future and it is "Music in Community Life."

The single lamp (or groups of lamps on one fixture) should not be expected to light a large area for reading and sewing. The use of a single lamp of only 20 candles hung as in Figure 1 with a portable table lamp in addition for reading is preferred by some, as giving a more cozy effect. For this a completely frosted lamp of not more than 20 candles should be used within an ornamental shade, removing all eye strain.

Figure 2 shows inverted lighting by means of an opaque reflector throwing out all the light of a clear lamp upward to a light colored or white ceiling, whence it is distributed as diffused light throughout the room. As before full lines indicate rays, and dotted lines reflection from ceiling and walls. The figure is inaccurate in representing the reflection as if coming in a single direction from a mirror, while the ceiling really sends rays back at every angle, giving a soft diffused light, almost eliminating shadows. Even the bowl reflector under it being as shadow, the light under it being as good as anywhere else. To maintain effective lighting the reflector needs frequent cleaning, since even a little dust absorbs much light. This plan of lighting equalizes the illumination in a way that can be readily appreciated by imagining a direct-ray lamp placed as shown in Figure 2 at the optical "image point" above the ceiling, where it can command the entire floor area, if the ceiling were removed. Inverted lighting requires a lamp of 80 to 120 candles for a room of 150 square feet area to give satisfactory reading illumination everywhere. To cover the entire room area equally by direct lighting two or more fixtures will be needed, or as much candle power in all. When inverted lighting is employed with a 50 candle

ROADS ARE IMPROVED BY GOOD DRAINAGE

DRAINAGE MOST IMPORTANT TO MAINTENANCE OF EARTH ROAD.

Road Should Have Under Drainage—Side Ditches and Surface Drainage—Discrediting of Earth. Does Cause of Road Improvement Harm.

(By Ira O. Baker, Professor of Civil Engineering, University of Illinois, at the Short Course in Highway Engineering, January, 1914.

Article I.

In some respects the earth road is more worthy of careful consideration than any other form of road. At present something like 90 per cent of the highways of Illinois, outside of the cities, have only an earth surface. The new road law contemplates that ultimately 15 to 20 per cent of the roads of Illinois are to have some form of surface other than the natural soil. In all countries only a comparatively small fraction of the highways have a better surface than that furnished by the natural soil. Therefore, because of their great extent, earth roads are worthy of careful consideration.

There are some advocates of road improvement who say very severe things about earth roads and contend that there is no good in such a road. This view is stated in an attempt to persuade the people to construct roads having a better surface than the natural soil. However I have no contention with the ultimate hope of these advocates; but I do believe that they have done the cause of road improvement. These advocates that the earth road unquestionably the assertion of these advocates that the earth road was beyond hope has prevented improvement of this most useful means of transportation.

Advocating the highest possible improvement of earth roads does not in any way prevent the improvement of roads by substitution of better surfaces than the natural soil. Unless a community is willing to spend some thought and time and money to improve the earth road it is highly improbable that such a community will spend any considerable sum to secure a better road; unless perchance extraneous conditions have changed in some marked particular. In other words, the community that is careless or indifferent in the care of its earth roads, or incompetent in that respect, is not likely to be ready to spend money for the construction of better roads, and is not likely to care for such roads if they are constructed.

The ordinary earth roads, even those in the corn belt of Illinois, can be greatly improved by a comparatively small expenditure of time and money. The chief requirement for the improvement of the earth road is a desire and a little careful study of the conditions and of the various tools and machines that are available for doing the work. I will try to state some of the elementary principles concerning the care and maintenance of earth roads. This statement must of necessity be comparatively brief; but fortunately in the last few years considerable literature has been put out concerning earth roads; and much of this literature is quite excellent and readily available.

Construction.

Because of the necessary brevity of this presentation, and because most of the roads in Illinois are already constructed, I will not say here, nothing will be said here about location, width of roadway, grading, embankment, excavation or other things that could properly be considered under the head of construction.

Drainage.

Drainage is the most important matter in connection with either the construction or maintenance of any form of road either earth or stone; and of course is of vital importance for an earth road.

No road, whether earth or stone, can long remain good without drainage. Drainage alone will often change a bad earth road to a good one, and the best road may be destroyed by the absence of proper drainage. Water is the only agent that destroys earth roads. Water and dirt make mud, and mud makes bad going. The dirt is always in the road, and the water comes at unpropitious times, as rain or snow. The water softens the earth, the horses' feet and wagon wheels mix and knead it, and it soon becomes impassable mud; finally the frost freezes it, and the second state of the road is worse than the first, for a time at least. Further, if the water is allowed to course down the middle of the road, it will wash away the earth and leave gullies in the surface that must be laboriously filled up by the traffic or the hand of man. No road, however, well made otherwise, can endure if the water collects or remains on it. Prompt and thorough drainage is a vital essential in all road construction.

A perfectly drained road will have three systems of drainage, each of which must receive special attention if the best results are to be obtained. This is true whether the trackway be iron, broken stone, gravel, or earth, and it is emphatically true of earth. These three systems are, viz: Undred drainage, side ditching and surface drainage. An article next week will discuss the first of these.

NO RADICAL CHANGES IN FOOT BALL RULES LIKELY

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—No radical changes in the rules of football are likely to result from the deliberation of the intercollegiate football rules committee which began a two day meeting here tonight. This was the report that came from the committee room at the adjournment of the session at which various proposed changes had been talked over behind closed doors for more than two hours.

Among the changes discussed, it was understood, were the proposed numbering of players which Park H. Davis of Princeton is championing with what is said to be strong support.

The meeting was presided over by Edward H. Hall of Dartmouth. Walter Camp of Yale was chosen secretary and editor of the rules committee. Among those active in attendance were Henry L. Williams, Minnesota; S. G. Williams, Iowa, state, and Alonzo Stagg, Chicago University.

COPPER CLAD MAN IN ANDRE WINDOW ATTRACTS NOTICE.

Passers By Cannot Determine Whether Figure Is Human or Mechanical.

A lot of curious passersby were attracted yesterday to the show window of Andre and the question was, what is it? A seemingly mechanical figure was seated in a chair and he was representing the copper clad ranges now being pushed by the firm. His clothes were shiny and copper colored; his hat and features were like wax and his hair was real and his arms and head moved regularly and mechanically.

A Sunday school teacher would have made a bet that the affair was mechanical if he had not been restrained by religious principle while others thought it was a human being ingeniously imitating mechanical motions. If that latter surmise or opinion be correct the man is certainly a good one at imitating. Look in the Andre window today.

SPRINGFIELD MEETS WATERLOO

J. H. S. WINS BASKETBALL GAME 19 TO 10.

One of Hardest Fought Contests on Local Floor Witnessed By Big Crowd—Jacksonville Run Away With Visitors in the Last Half—White Hall Downs Rount College.

Jacksonville High school basketball team found sweet revenge last night in Strawn's hall when they defeated the strong Springfield aggregation by a score of 19 to 10. In the first game played at Springfield a short time ago, Jacksonville met a decisive defeat, but this time it was S. H. S. who met their Waterloo.

Speaking of basketball games, the one last night was fast and furious from start to finish, both sides going into the contest to win. By Jacksonville taking the honors, the local men maintained their record of always breaking even with Springfield, a condition which has existed for several years.

The Springfield team this year has in Schneider, a player who made the all state forward last year, and has had three years experience. The other men have each had two years, so that the Capital City lads have an aggregation that is going to make a strong bid for the tournament which they enter this year. The visitors put up some excellent team work which at times bordered on the sensational, but when it came to shooting baskets, their eye became poorer as the game advanced. Perhaps of their men Sternamen, Schneider and English played the best.

The Jacksonville men put up the best game yet this year and it would be difficult to pick any stars as each one played his position with skill. When it is recalled that most of the J. H. S. men are inexperienced their work last night was unusually brilliant. The way they came back in the last half would make them a dangerous foe for any team striving for tournament honors. Reynolds clearly outplayed the Springfield center and besides made 8 points for his team. Edwin Pyatt also netted 6 points and Boxell was in the game all the time. Julian Pratt and Smith at guards were full of "pep." Five minutes before the game ended Hembrough relieved Edwin Pyatt at right forward. Fuller refereed a clean game and Atchinson of Illinois college acted as umpire. J. H. S. had 9 fouls called on them and Springfield eight.

As a curtain raiser Whipple Academy played the second team of the high school defeating them by a score of 17 to 4. The score:

Rount, 8; White Hall, 34.

Rount College met defeat at the hands of White Hall Friday night by a score of 8 to 34 but made a plucky fight and expect to do better and put up some more scientific basketball when the White Hall boys play their return game here in March. Although the game was a losing one from the start and boys soon saw they were outclassed they kept fighting away and rolled up their score to 8 points by means of Leary and Groves' one field goal a piece and four foul goals by Walsh.

The game was featured by the playing of Baldwin and Selby who starred for the White Hall high school team. Baldwin got in 7 field baskets and 4 fouls and Selby threw 4 goals from the floor and made two more points on fouls. Roodhouse made two field baskets and Campbell 1.

The Rount college line up was: Groves, center; Froelich and Leary guards; Clancy and Walsh, forwards. Malone played guard in 2nd half. Baldwin played center for White Hall and Roodhouse and Bridge-water were the guards. Selby and Campbell played forward. Officials: Vermillion, referee; Maloney, timekeeper and Leary scorer.
